Teachers, are you looking for a fun way to earn professional development hours this summer? Join us for an exciting 2-day look at the federal courts! This year's program will feature an intensive look at the civil and criminal processes. Teachers will have the opportunity to watch a court proceeding, participate in interactive activities including a mock settlement conference, and engage with federal judges and representatives from related entities. Confirmed speakers include United States Magistrate Judges Kellie Barr and Craig McKee and U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Indiana, Zachary Myers.

The workshop is designed for middle school and high school teachers. Content will differ from past programs, and teachers who have attended a prior Teacher Institute are welcome to register.

Space is limited – register early to reserve a seat!
